

Anglo-Saxon Churches - Day School

with David Beard MA, FSA

Saturday, 15th July 2017

The day will begin with a brief introduction to the Conversion of Anglo-Saxon England. We will then consider the architecture of the Anglo-Saxon church chronologically up to the 11th century and the role that the architecture played in the litany of the church.

This is intended to be a practical introduction and would be a good way to build on the knowledge gained from the trip to three Anglo-Saxon churches on Saturday, 8th July.

The Day School will be held at 50 School Lane, Chalfont St Peter, Gerrards Cross, Bucks, SL9 9BB. This venue can be reached by train from Marylebone Station or by road from London. Details of your chosen mode of transport will be sent when your application for the Day School is confirmed.

The Day School will begin at 10.30am. Coffee will be served from 10am.

The cost of the Day School is £29.50 (cheque made payable to R. Yeaxlee). This includes tuition, a hot lunch and tea or coffee.

If you wish to attend this Day School please fill in the attached slip below. These Day Schools are very popular and applicants are accepted on a first come first served basis.
